OVER at Stanford, the other day, two business firms began cutting prices on shirts, and when the shades of evening fell the best in town could be had for 10 cents. We are reliably informed that Stanford people now wear nothing but shirts.—Editor Allen in Cynthiana Democrat. This leaves us a horse ahead of Beer Allen and his townsmen. They don't even wear shirts, we hear.

A HEAVY rain, which did not come till it had begun to be badly needed, fell Sunday and Sunday night. It was accompanied by wind and thunder and lightning, which lasted a long time and was quite severe. A hay rick belonging to Mr. Forestus Reid was struck by lightning and entirely destroyed. It had fully 350 bales in it and Mr. Reid valued it at $150. We heard of no other damage of consequence.

AN effort is being made to open Higheaton street to Danville Avenue and it is hoped that it will be successful. It will open up many fine building lots, save school children a mile walk and make a safe way out of town by avoiding the dangerous Danville crossing. The street would be through the lands of Miss Mary Varnon, R. C. Warren and Harvey Helm and the right of way can be easily secured.

ONE car of Gov. Bradley's hospital train from Chickamauga passed here Sunday with 15 or 20 sick soldiers for various points along the line to Middleboro. Most of the patients had the fever and were exceedingly wan and worn in appearance.

WANT TO STOP HIM.—Eleven citizens of Kingsville, five or six of them Mr. W. L. McCarty says his business competitors, signed a petition to the board of health to prevent him from dumping the refuse of the canning factory in the creek, claiming that it was very offensive and likely to produce disease. Mr. McCarty thereupon got up a petition himself, which was signed by over 100, many of them his employees, who say that in five years they have heard of no sickness caused by it. Doyle was arrested while preaching to the soldiers at Lexington and taken to Hart county on a charge of seducing a girl, who died from the effects of an abortion performed on her at his instance. On being lodged in jail he tried to kill himself, or to leave that impression, by tying a handkerchief around his neck, so as to choke him to death.

To replace a church destroyed by the tornado of May 27, 1896, the congregation of St. Francis de Sales' church, at St. Louis, is erecting a building which will be practically indestructible. It will have the tallest steeple on the Western Continent. The needle-like terminus of the steel rod of the weather vane will point skyward at a distance of 378 feet from the ground. The cost will be $225,000.

This tribute of respect was passed by the church conference of Stanford church:

WHEREAS our beloved brother and presiding elder of Danville District, Dr. W. F. Vaughan, has just closed his fourth year of most effective service in our district, and whereas according to our law of limitation he must needs depart from us, therefore:

BE IT RESOLVED, 1. That it is with deepest regret we part with our brother and assure him of our sympathy in his afflictions, and prayers to follow him.

2. We most heartily recommend him as a most godly man, a pulpit orator, a great thinker and expounder of God's word and of fine executive ability.

3. That the above be spread in our most worthy county paper, the INTERIOR JOURNAL, and a copy be sent Dr. Vaughan.

W. S. GRINSTEAD, Pres.
DR. C. A. COX, Secy.

Gallant old Gen. Wheeler was a cadet at 17, a second lieutenant at 23, a colonel at 24, a brigadier-general at 25, a major-general at 26, a corps commander at 27, and a lieutenant-general at 28. He had 16 horses killed under him in the civil war, and a great number wounded. His saddle equipments and clothes were frequently struck by the missiles of the enemy. He was three times wounded, once painfully. He had 32 staff officers, or acting staff officers, killed or wounded. In almost every case, they were immediately by his side. No officer was more exposed to the missiles of death than Gen. Wheeler. Though 62 he is still very active and to him is due more than to any one man the triumphal issue at Santiago.

A dispatch from Frankfort says that Capt. W. H. Sweeney, of Lebanon, who recently resigned his place in the Lebanon company of the Second regiment, is there to see the governor. He is unusually bitter against Col. Galtner for his treatment of the officers and men under him, and does not hesitate to say that the reason the Second did not get to go to Newport News when the Legion and Third regiment did was the cowardly conduct of the colonel. He also says that 90 per cent. of the men want to be mustered out.

Camp Wilcox will gradually break up during the next three weeks, and by October 1 it is expected that all the soldiers engaged in the Santiago campaign will have been mustered out, if volunteers, or, if regulars, sent to garisons at different points east of the Mississippi, except the convalescents, who will be allowed to go home on furlough.

The big Krupp gun at the World's Fair was the largest ever cast. Its length was 87 feet, its weight 122,400 pounds; the bombs intended for it weighed a ton each and required half a ton of powder to fire them. The greatest diameter was 42 centimeters. The gun was cast for the Italian Government.

During the four years ended August 31, the San Francisco mint coined $153,608,834, of which over $125,000,000 was gold of Pacific Coast production. The coinage for the month amounted to $8,100,000, breaking all previous records in the United States.
